The Kentucky Coal Mining Museum collects and preserves the rich history of coal camps throughout Kentucky. Located in a National Register Historic District, the Museum is housed in the Commissary, or company store, built by Wisconsin Steel, a subsidiary of International Harvester, in the 1920's. The Museum dedicates an entire floor to a Loretta Lynn exhibit. Built in 1926 as a school for coal camp children, the Benham School House Inn offers premier lodging with 32 guest rooms, gas fireplaces, and the Apple Room Restaurant. The challenging Sleepy Hollow Golf Course holds several annual tournaments.
